

David Hogan

David Hogan is an Irish based Commercial and Landscape photographer who has been working professionally since 2001. Since an early age, photography has been a big part of Davids life – ever since his mother bought him his first point & shoot. Initially, shooting as an amateur and working professionally as a firefighter, David took every spare moment to continue with what was then just a hobby. However it wasn't long before the desire to shoot became almost overwhelming and David made the transition to pro and hasn't looked back since. Davids work can be viewed online at www.davidhogan.ie.