

Guy & Paula Davies

Guy started in photography as a boy in 1946, and was soon developing and printing my own films, he really did not get serious until 1989 when I joined a camera club. In 2002 he was awarded the Licentiate of the Royal Photographic Society. In January 2005 he joined the Photographic Society of America, which also offers recognition for acceptances in international exhibitions.

In 2009, I was awarded the AFIAP distinction and later in the year the PPSA distinction of the Photographic Society of America. He was also very pleased to achieve the Associateship of the Royal Photographic Society with a panel of prints showing details of sandstone rocks.

His preference is for landscapes but he also loves waterfalls and seascapes.

Paulas main interest is the intimate landscape. All of her pictures started as photographs, either from colour transparencies, black & white negatives or digitally captured. She has been using digital cameras exclusively since 2003 and Adobe Photoshop or Corel Painter IX are her chosen tools on the computer. Paula has achieved an ARPS in June 2006 and a FRPS in May 2007, Her work can be viewed at <http://www.pixelfoto.co.uk/>
